History, Development, and Expectations of the Program

Briefly describe the history, development, and expectations of the program. To the best of your knowledge, reflect on the reason for creating the program and the ways in which the program has evolved in response to students' needs or changes in the field. In addition, explain the design and operation of the current program in relation to that which preceded it, to market demands, to students' needs, and to academic/higher education climate.

Also, describe the ways in which the program mission and vision (or the program purpose) connect to/reinforce Stockton's institutional mission and vision. Stockton's mission and vision statements can be accessed on the College's website.

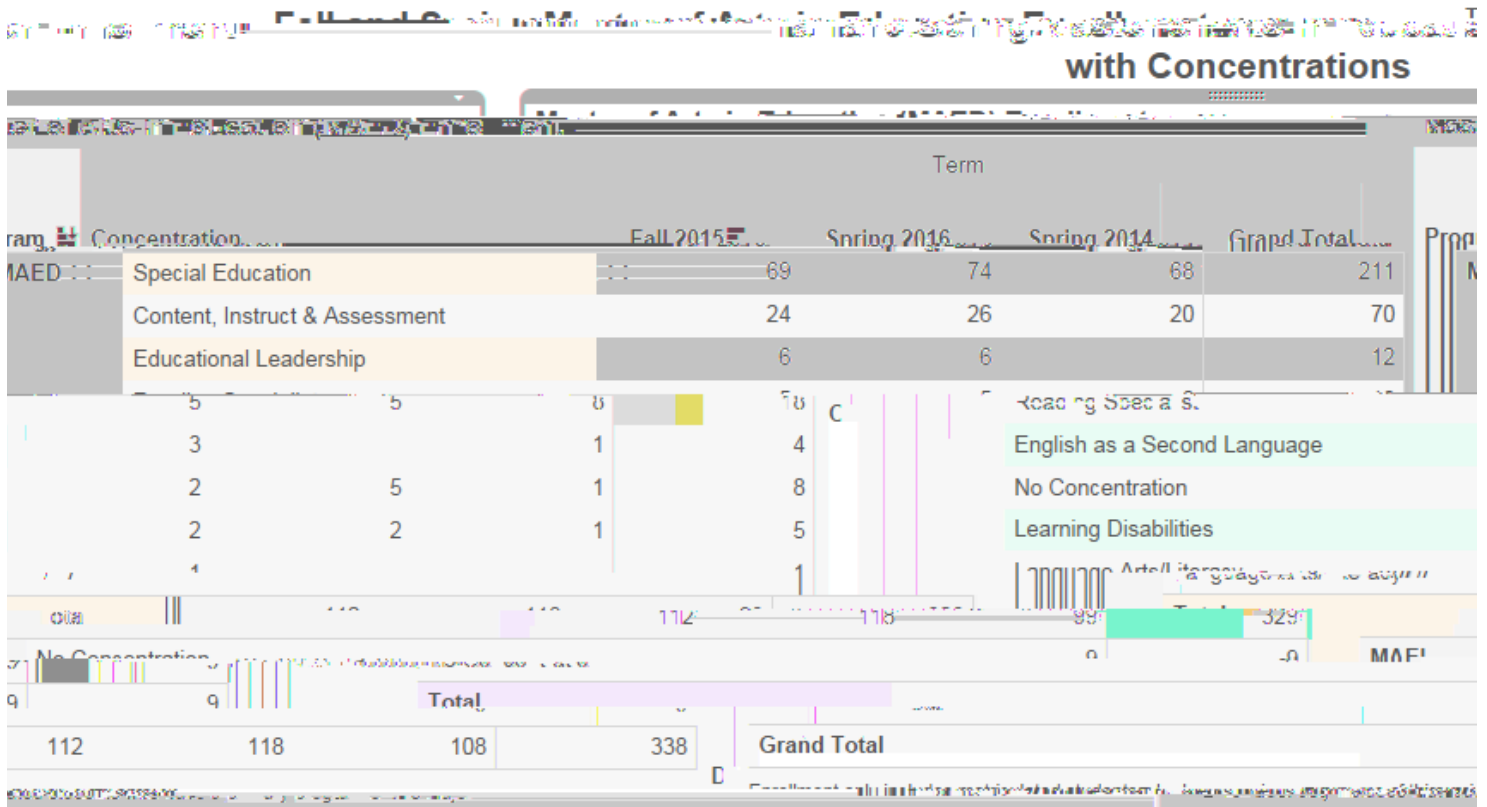

The MAED Program was created in 2004 as a graduate level program offering advanced professional development in effective teaching and learning for certified teachers. The MAED program faculty

Demand for Program

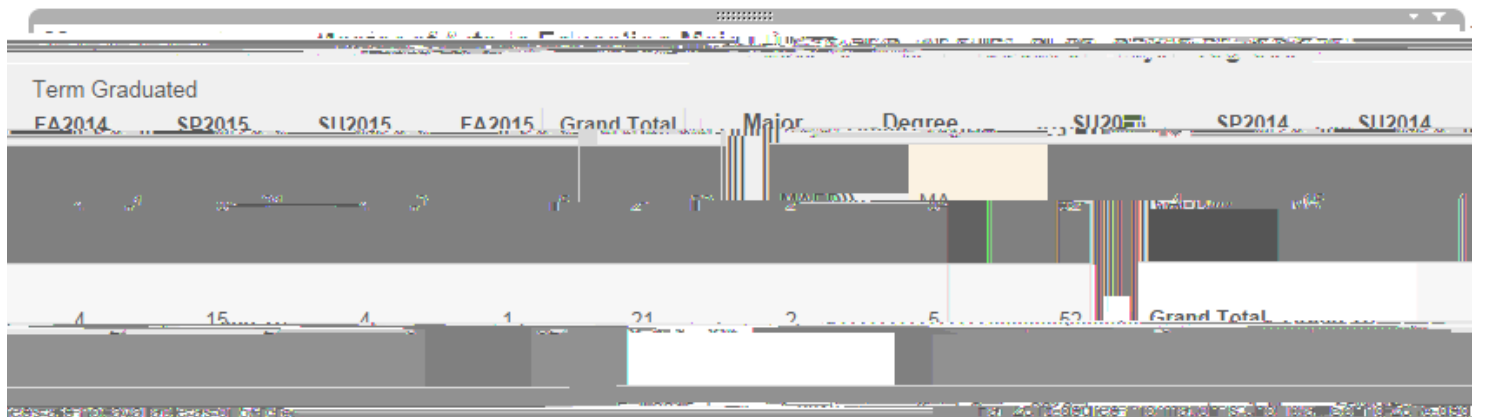

Reflect on the following with reference to the data supplied through Tableau and by Institutional Research. In relation to “Viability,” please discuss your evaluation of the program’s sustainability given enrollment, etc. and local, regional, or national trends related to the discipline/field(s). Although it is not necessary to collect and to analyze benchmarking data, please plan to include a plan to improve the program’s sustainability.

Faculty

Discuss the program's faculty makeup.

Refer to the data supplied by Institutional Research for guidance.

Consider the implications and benefits of faculty demographics in relation to the overall design and delivery of the program. Since full-time and adjunct faculty members may teach the same or different courses, please explain the advantages of the current arrangement or the strains resulting from it.

In addition, take the opportunity to summarize and reflect on the courses taught/students taught by faculty type (workload/FTE), release time by faculty type, service contributions by faculty type, scholarship

In addition to the courses taught the faculty of the MAED program contribute significantly the university and community at large. Each MAED faculty member precepts over 60 MAED and TEDU students. Faculty members also serve on a committees across the university. Finally, MAED faculty have been actively engaged in both community outreach and scholarly endeavors during the 2015-2016 academic year. In the next section, individual accomplishments in the areas of community and scholarly engagement are outlined.

Diversity

Stockton University values diversity in faculty members, students, and academic offerings. In this context, diversity refers to the practices that lead to inclusiveness and interaction across racial, ethnic, social class, nation of origin, national language, gender, sexuality, sexual orientation, ability, age, military/veteran status, and other forms of difference, preference, and identity.

The Stockton Mission Statement specifies that:

“We value diversity and the differing perspectives it brings. Accordingly, we are unequivocally committed to implementing the principles of affirmative action in the composition of our student body, faculty, and staff.”

The Mission Statement also communicates the importance of diversity to students’ education, indicating that students acquire “the ability to adapt to changing circumstances in a multicultural and interdependent world” throughout their Stockton careers.

Describe any ways in which the program has enhanced the structural diversity of faculty and student populations (i.e., sought applications from members of under-represented groups; hired members of under-represented groups; created mentoring and retention strategies for members of under-represented groups; actively recruited and retained students from under-represented groups; encouraged faculty to pursue scholarship, to create courses, to participate in events on diversity topics); has enhanced co-curricular diversity (such as: organizing, participating, or attending co-curricular offerings or incorporating diverse co-curricular offerings into courses, as requirements for students); or has acted on the University’s espoused commitment to diversity as a value (i.e., created partnerships with community organizations/members that foster diversity).

In addition, explain any revisions to curriculum that expand the global reach of program content (i.e., added courses to the curriculum that focus on local, national, or global diversity in the major/minor discipline, created modules for core courses that address issues of diversity, added community engagement with a diversity focus to the program/individual courses) and efforts to encourage inclusiveness of relevant, multiple voices and perspectives within the discipline.

For the past two years, under the leadership of Dr. Lois Spitzer the MAED program provided a cohort of teachers from Vineland Public Schools with a sequence of five courses for teachers in the district to earn a Bilingual/Bicultural teaching endorsement. The goal of the cohort was to increase the number of teachers available in the district to meet the needs of English Language Learners.

Instructional Sites

Stockton has instructional sites in Hammonton, Manahawkin, Woodbine, and in Atlantic City at the Carnegie Center..

If relevant, describe any current program use of these sites/campus and any anticipated future use. Discuss ways that the use of these sites/campus reflect on students’ learning and on faculty effectiveness. Please share any faculty-community collaborations developed as a result of teaching at the sites/campus, their purpose, and outcomes achieved from the collaborations.

2015-2016

Dr. John Quinn has been teaching a series of graduate level mathematics courses supported by the MSP grant at the Woodbine Instructional Site.

Dean's Comments/Reflections/Look Forward

Reflections: The MAED program continues to exemplify strong performance under the rigorous scrutiny of both licensure and accreditation reviews, as evidenced in this report. Dr. Lebak is among the very best of all the graduate Directors at Stockton: she attends to every enrollment pattern, data point, and student communication with exemplary care and response. She has succeeded in working with a very heavily-burdened faculty through several drastic sets of changes, and has not only maintained steady enrollments in programs, but has painstakingly directed responses to grow, adjust, or reconsider programs based on changes in students' needs and on changes in the external regulatory environment.

As this report and the accompanying data sets make clear, the program faculty's herculean work in changing delivery mode for selected endorsement (certifications) continues to have a strong, positive impact on enrollments in ESL/BE, Supervisor and Principal endorsement and degree-seekers.

In addition, the faculty's productivity in all aspects, teaching, scholarship, and service is also laudable, not only for its quantity, but especially for its high quality and impact on our region. For one of our largest
