

Off the Trail and Into the College Classroom: Are the Candidates Making the Grade?

time will tell if higher education will be one of the issues McCain will take up in his drive to the White House.

However, it will be up to you whether either the eventual Democratic nominee or Senator McCain takes on college affordability and access as part of the national dialogue this fall. With